Detailed Action

1. This Office Action is in response to the Application SN 10/031,573 filed on 07/01/2002. Claims 1-14 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Voit (US 6,104,711).

4. As to claims 1, 5 and 11, Voit teaches a method and system for translating textual domain names into telephone numbers, comprising:

obtaining a name address (an identifier corresponding to electronic information being displayed such as a URL corresponding to web page) and transmitting a name translation request or "query" to the domain name server (Voit, C9: L4-16);

converting the name address (URL corresponding to a web page) into a telephone number corresponding to a location at which a provider of the electronic information can be contacted (i.e., receiving the domain name query, the domain name server executes a direct look-up table based translation, wherein certain translations of domain names will result in a response or reply message containing the corresponding destination telephone number) (Voit, C4: L29-30, C9: L4-16 and C10: L9-20);

dialing the telephone number; and requesting that a voice communications channel to be opened between the user-side and an information-provider side (i.e., after the domain name server outputs information identifying the alternate destination, the PC 21 uses the received information, e.g., the IP address and the telephone number, to establish voice communications) (Voit, C13:L52 – C14:L16).

5. As to claims 2, 6 and 12, Voit teaches the invention as in claims 1, 5 and 11, further comprising obtaining a URL corresponding to a Web page being displayed to the user (i.e., obtaining a name address such as a URL for a web page and transmitting a name translation request or “query” to the domain name server) (Voit, C9: L4-16)

6. As to claims 3, 7 and 13, Voit teaches the invention as in claims 1, 5 and 11, further comprising controlling a telephone switch to dial the telephone number (i.e., after the domain name server outputs information identifying the alternate destination, the PC 21 uses the received information, e.g., the IP address and the telephone number, to establish voice communications) (Voit, C13:L52 – C14:L16).

7. As to claims 4, 8-10 and 14, Voit teaches the invention as in claims 1, 5 and 11, further comprising establishing a voice-over-IP voice communication connection between the user-side and the information provider-side across a WAN (and/or the Internet as in Fig. 1 of Voit) (Voit, C13:L52 – C14:L16).
